About Aurora

HELLO NORTHWEST AURORA!

We would like to extend our warm welcome to the residents of Northwest Aurora. There are no words that can convey our awe and respect for our great citizens. We would like to take this opportunity to let you know that it is our honor and privilege to serve you. Our neighborhood association is here as an investment to our community. A neighborhood is great when we are helping each other. No organization is ever a success without its citizens. Keeping this in mind, we would like to take this opportunity to welcome and invite each and every one of you to be part of this organization. We would also like to say that without your warmth and support, this organization would be incomplete, so please, take part in all the activities with heart and soul.

Aurora originated in the 1880s as the town of Fletcher, taking its name from Denver businessman Donald Fletcher who saw it as a real estate opportunity. He and his partners staked out four square miles east of Denver, but the town-and Colorado-struggled mightily after the silver crash of 1893. Inhabitants decided to rename the town Aurora in 1907, and Aurora slowly began to grow in Denver's shadow becoming the fastest-growing city in the United States during the late 1970s and early 1980s.

(Excerpt from the City of Aurora website.)

The Northwest Aurora Neighborhood Organization is a vital contributor to our community, responsible for many worthwhile projects affecting the quality of life in Original Aurora. NANO is Aurora's oldest neighborhood organization, founded May 1976.
